Registration and Fee: £175, includes registration fee, lunches September 7, 8 and 9, 3 evening receptions/dinner and day trip to Loch Lomond and a distillery (September 9). Please note that accommodation is not included in this price.

Graduate Student Workshop Abstract Submission: one page to be submitted by July 10 by email to ukjeel2017@glasgow.ac.uk.

Organizing Institution: School of Engineering, University of Glasgow
Co-Organizer: UK-Japan Engineering Education League (UKJEEL), Japan 8 Universities Engineering Deans Association

VISAs and Letter of Participation: Please contact the secretariat Lynn Esson on ukjeel2017@glasgow.ac.uk.

Workshop Benefits: Network and exchange views with Japanese and UK colleagues on education and research; doctoral students gain valuable experience in giving oral and poster presentations; further understanding of sustainable energy generation; faculty can strengthen contacts with colleagues to facilitate further research exchanges and professional development.

Weather: The weather in Glasgow at this time of year can vary. While most of the time will be spent indoors, make sure to bring waterproof clothing in addition to the business casual attire that is recommended for the reception dinner.

Paper submission: Papers welcome from across engineering themes, particularly welcome on energy related research.

Faculty Workshop: Senior Faculty Round-table on Transnational Education in Engineering, promoting research collaborations and mobility, Young Faculty round-table on balancing research and teaching workloads including session on promoting University/Industrial Cooperation.

UK University League Members: The University of Birmingham, Cardiff University, University of Cambridge, University of Glasgow, University of Exeter, Imperial College London, Newcastle University, University of Southampton, Queen Mary University, Queen’s University of Belfast, University College London, and the University of Oxford.

Japan 8 Universities: Hokkaido University, Kyoto University, Kyushu University, Nagoya University, Osaka University, Tohoku University, The University of Tokyo, and Tokyo Institute of Technology.
